

AmCham Women in Global Organisations Peer Mentoring Programme

AmCham WGO Peer Mentoring Programme

This programme is designed to advance leadership skills in a safe, trusted environment. Working in small cross company, cross sector, cross functional groups, through group discussion, with formal and informal interactions throughout the programme, participants have the opportunity to explore practices, share insights, compare experiences, gather new perspectives and try out ideas with an exceptional group of peers.

Who is the programme aimed at?

For senior women leaders in American Chamber member companies who have a minimum of 10+ years experience. Executives must be prepared to lead their organisation through periods of disruptive innovation and rapid change - Participants are re-energised, prepared to inspire and lead colleagues with lasting impact.

"I've been incredibly lucky with the diversity of industries and functions that I could draw from their experiences. It's great to be able to leave the programme not just with new knowledge, but also a professional network of women that can continue to be a safe and inspiring sounding board on career and personal development"

Influence

Exploring the challenges faced when it comes to influence, this session looks at tools and strategies that can affect the attitude and behaviours of those around them; how to develop greater personal understanding of the impact of these skills and how they may be applied to build resilience, step into the spotlight and perform more effectively in the workplace.

Persuasion

Business today is largely run by teams and populated by authority-averse baby boomers and Generation Xers. That makes persuasion more important than ever as a managerial tool. It is a process of learning from others and negotiating a shared solution. Persuasion can be a force for enormous good in an organisation, but people must understand it for what it is: an often-painstaking process that requires insight, planning and compromise.

Horizon

Horizon scanning is the continuous process of gathering information about customers, suppliers, competitors, society, technology, and so on, and using this information to make informed decisions about your business. Business leaders need to the external environment, operating with eyes open, aware of changes in customer preferences or habits, aware of opportunities to gain market share or to move into new markets; anticipating a new competitor or how to improve efficiencies through technologies or processes. In short, horizon scanning is essential, not only to grow, but to survive.

Visibility

How important is it for top managers to be visible? Hambrick and Mason (1984) argue that organisations are reflections of their top managers, and thus organisational outcomes are significantly influenced by the values, beliefs and actions of these managers. This session will explore the tools & techniques of visibility – personal and corporate – how to prepare for a panel, how to deliver an elevator pitch to camera, and how to say yes to opportunities.

Change

The objective of these two challenging sessions is to integrate change with an increased awareness of what you can and cannot control in your world; insight into where your locus of control mindset is; and improved understanding of your competing commitments and 'big assumptions'. Areas of focus for personal action will be discussed and supported by your peer group.
